FBI Has Witness To Crime

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 5 (UPI)—The evidence against 21 persons arrested in the slaying of three civil rights workers will include an eyewitness to the crime, an FBI source said today.

At the time the bodies of the three were found last Aug. 4 there was an unconfirmed report FBI agents had paid an informer $25,000 to lead them to a farm pond dam where the victims were buried.

There was speculation the informer and the eyewitness might be one and the same person, but there was no official comment from the FBI on this or any other phase of the case.

From Washington sources it was learned that federal agents had thoroughly interrogated the two Ku Klux Klan, questioning each of the 400 Klansmen in the area.

One Klan leader who is a suspect in the case was not picked up with the others Friday because of lack of evidence.

Among those arrested Friday was Lawrence A. Rainey, the sheriff of Neshoba county where the three civil rights workers remained June 21, and his deputy, Cecil Price.

Both Rainey and Price went into along with the other 19 suspects after posting $5,000 bonds Friday night.

Nineteen of the suspects are charged with violating an 1870 civil rights law, and the other two are accused of withholding information concerning a felony.

The civil rights charges carry a penalty of a $5,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment, and the withholding information of a felony is punishable by a $5,000 fine and three years in prison.

The three civil rights workers who were slain were Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 22, a Negro from Meridian, Miss.

The FBI believes the plot was hatched over a period of weeks to kill Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney for their work in the civil rights movement.

GOP Governors Approve Statement Interpreted As Move to Oust Burch

DENVER, Dec. 5 (UPI)—Republican governors today unanimously approved a declaration which most called a demand for replacement of National Chairman Dean Burch and a rejection of "exclusion" tactics of the Goldwater wing of their party. Burch was not named in the lengthy policy statement and his chief supporter at this GOP governor's conference, Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona, insisted it was no call for his removal.

"If it isn't you, you can shoot me," declared New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, one of the moderate leaders pushing for a quick change in party leadership.

Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, George Romney of Michigan, John C. Danforth of Maine and other anti-Goldwater leaders, said there was no question that almost all the governors want Burch to go and that their statement carried that message.

Two conservatives, Govs. Tim Wabcock of Montana and Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, both said Burch should resign if he could not subscribe to the governor's declaration.

The governors recommended to the national committee meeting Jan. 23 in Chicago that "it adopt leadership which clearly represents a broad view of the Republican Party and practice a policy of inclusion, rather than exclusion."

They said that "any policy of exclusion will be changed and cannot be tolerated."

The governors at the same time called for convening of an "all-inclusive, intra-party conference" in the spring of 1965 and urged the organization to assure their own control of its financing and policy-making, with their own office in Washington.

Scranton, in the presence of fellow governors, told a news conference he had kept silent "for a long time," in the hope that Burch would seek to unify the party and end the "exclusion" tactics of the Goldwater wing.

"There has not been one thing in the past few years that has been done to unify the party," he said. "Instead there has been a policy of exclusion. I think it is important to unify the party around our national leadership and I do believe it should be changed."

Moderate governors, still not fully recovered from the embarrassment of their failure to "stop Goldwater" at their national conference in Cleveland earlier this year, were determined to change the party's direction.

T.F. Policemen Help Curb Shoplifting

By SAMUEL DAVIS, JR.
Shoplifting is a problem in just about every city in the nation including Twin Falls. But even stores are hiring off-duty policemen to curb the problem.

With the Christmas season nearing, more and more shoplifting is being done. Juveniles as well as adults, many able to pay for the items, are being apprehended.

Shoplifters should be and are prosecuted. Twin Falls Police Officer Collins Helms, when off duty, watches one of the drug stores in Twin Falls.

Helms said "this is a national problem and it is getting bigger and bigger every day. We plan to have special police men year-round to guard against shoplifting."

In another instance he said he saw a group of teenagers enter a store and start following them around the store. "When they left, without buying anything,"

Manager of Penny Wine drug store, who has hired off-duty policemen, said "this is a national problem and it is getting bigger and bigger every day. We plan to have special police men year-round to guard against shoplifting."

The two Allied leaders will hold five separate meetings and a communique will be issued at the close of their consultations.

In advance of Wilson's visit, Johnson met Saturday with the Undersecretary of State George Black and U.S. Ambassador to Britain David Bruce.

The MLF, as originally proposed, would consist of 25 surface ships, jointly commanded by Allied nations, and each carrying eight Polaris-type nuclear missiles able to reach Soviet targets in event of war.

Emmett to Vote On Sewer Bond

EMMETT, Dec. 5 (UPI)—Emmett property owners will vote Tuesday on a sewer bond proposal that would allow the town to stop running raw sewage into the Payette river.

The bonds would help finance construction of 44 acres in sewage treatment oxidation ponds and several thousand feet of interceptor sewers.

Total cost of the system is estimated at $278,990.

License Plate Sales Near 2750

License plates sales in Twin Falls reached 2,749 today with steady business reported at the Twin Falls county assessor's office since the 1965 plates first went on sale Tuesday. There had been 2,922 sets of passenger car plates sold at the Twin Falls county courthouse and 97 truck plates.

At Delta Insurance agency, Bill where plates are being sold for vehicle owners in the east end of the county, passenger plate sales totaled 410 and truck plate sales were 20.

Lift to Run

The 10-bar on Magic Island will be running Sunday, but the resort isn't staffed yet and the lodge and the rope tow will not be in operation.

About four feet of snow and about five inches of powder on a hard-packed base was reported. Regular opening date still is Dec. 12.

Mariner-4 Obeys Order On Maneuver

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 5 (UPI)—Mariner-4, a space probe, obeyed a critical mid-course maneuver today and made it virtually certain the American spacecraft would come close enough to Mars to take photographs.

The maneuver, carried out on a radio signal from Earth, placed Mariner-4 in position to maintain a course which would put it within an 8,000-12,000-mile range of Mars.

The relatively close-up range will enable Mariner-4 to send photographs of the Mars terrain back to Earth and presumably provide valuable research data on surface "canals" which sometimes are seen via earth telescopes.

At the time of the mid-course maneuver, Mariner-4 was 12,071 miles from Earth traveling 7,601 miles an hour.

The mid-course maneuver was carried out yesterday but Mariner-4 had not yet been brought under control. Its electronic eye, but its eye on the planet Mars, would be brightest in the heavens.

After some 10 hours during which seven radio commands were dispatched to the 675-pound spacecraft, it regained the "lock" on Mars.

On Saturday morning the spacecraft was dispatched from the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., to California Institute of Technology and Mariner-4 signaled receipt.

The response caused JPL scientists to conclude, on the basis of radio telemetry, that the spacecraft was a complete success.

Rupert Killed When Tractor Flips

DECILO, Dec. 5—Russell Bowman, 54, Rupert, was killed when a tractor flipped over on him about 9:40 a.m. Saturday on the Wayne-Newcomb ranch five miles north and four miles east of here. According to Deputy Sheriff Dick Schund, investigating officer, Jeff Kinsley, Rupert, was driving a tractor which was pulling a beet harvester. After the harvester was filled, the tractor could not pull it. Bowman then hooked up his tractor to the tractor Kinsley was driving. When the small tractor tried to pull both the harvester and the other tractor, it flipped over, crushing Bowman between the steering wheel and the ground.

Mr. Bowman was born March 5, 1910, in Lavette county, Kansas, and came to Rupert with his parents in 1912 and attended Rupert schools. In 1933 he married Marjorie Hendrickson at Rupert.

He was a member of the Elmer Grange and a past member of the Elmer Grange, having received a 36-year Grange membership. He was a life-long member of the Methodist church.

Survivors include his widow, two sons, Max Bowman, Honolulu, Hawaii, and William Bowman, two brothers, Claude E. Bowman, Rupert, and Ralph Bowman, Marquette, Calif., and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Walk mortuary, Rupert.

Beachhead Is Established By Congolese

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, Dec. 5 (UPI)—A Congolese army assault force led by white mercenaries stormed across the Congo river today and established a beachhead on the rebel-held left bank, diplomatic sources said here.

There were no reports of the strength of reinforcements, but the communist-backed rebels are known to be strong in the area.

Several shells landed in and around the airport guesthouse, killing three Congolese children. Saturday's attack, the second in a series, was preceded by shelling of the rebel positions by anti-Oswala Qubun refugees.

Another mercenary force drove across the river last week to rescue a handful of white hostages. They brought back more than 30 bottles of poison and 200 shells and mutilated by the rebels.

Johnson to Confer With British Aide

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (UPI)—President Johnson and Britain's new Prime Minister Harold Wilson will confer here Monday and Tuesday on a fundamental exchange of views on the future of the Western alliance.

Wilson, due to arrive Sunday night, was bringing with him new proposals for British rearmament and a new role for the United Kingdom in the Western alliance.

At the heart of the controversy over nuclear policy is the question of whether the United States should support the Multi-Lateral Force or MLF.

Johnson's talk with Wilson will also cover a wide range of issues, including the future of the Western alliance and the role of the United States in the Western alliance.

The two Allied leaders will hold five separate meetings and a communique will be issued at the close of their consultations.

In advance of Wilson's visit, Johnson met Saturday with the Undersecretary of State George Black and U.S. Ambassador to Britain David Bruce.

Times-News Series Describes Why Children Fail to Learn

"School is a place where children learn to be stupid," a ridiculous thought? John Holt thought so when he began teaching. After 11 years in classrooms he isn't so sure.

Holt has written a book telling how and why he reached that conclusion. It is a book that will surprise you, move you and make you think about the future of Africa.

Ice, Heavy Snow Bothers Parts of U. S.

By United Press International
Tree-topping ice and heavy snow, worsened the Northeast Saturday and the cold set more records in the Northern plains.

The conclusion of a week-long weather onslaught which spawned three major storms and claimed at least 56 lives in weather-linked accidents also brought heavy rains to Dixie, Nevada, and more snow. Light snow was falling from North Dakota to Iowa.

Temperatures climbed above zero at mid-afternoon in eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota for the first time in 96 hours.

New England and Illinois each counted 11 weather deaths. Missouri and Indiana had nine each. Ohio listed five, New York and Arkansas four each, and Wisconsin, Michigan and New Mexico one each.

Drivers were warned to use caution on roads in New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Pennsylvania. Westward to the Pacific across the northern tier of states highway conditions were only slightly better.

Floodwaters from a broken dam derailed an Atlantic Coast line passenger train near Douglas, Ga., injuring five persons.

At Fayetteville, Ark., searchers found the bodies of four persons killed in the crash of a plane attempting a landing in a heavily overcast sky Friday.

The lone survivor endured more than 12 hours of subfreezing temperatures before she was found.

Meridian Man Is Killed in Crash

HOISE, Dec. 5 (AP)—A 68-year-old Meridian man was killed today in a two-car smashup at the intersection of highway 20 and county road about two miles west of here.

Police said Reuel R. Rankin was fatally injured when he drove his car onto the highway into the path of a vehicle driven by Mrs. Charlotte Ann Miller, 26, Boise.

Rankin was taken to a Boise hospital where he died about six hours after the accident. Miller also was hurt but her 14-month-old daughter escaped injury.

The death raised Idaho's 1964 highway fatality toll to 104, the highest since 1961.

Soviets, U. S. Criticized by China Paper

TOKYO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Communist China's official newspaper today published attacks on both the United States and the Soviet Union.

The criticism of Washington was direct and outspoken, but the attack on Moscow was indirect, through China's European satellite, Albania.

The newspaper, according to New China news agency broadcasts, charged that the United States was "trying to withdraw Belgian paratroopers from the Congo under pressure of Congolese rebel resistance and world public opinion."

"The bloodshed caused by the U.S. invasion of Cuba has further aroused the Congolese people and heightened their will to fight," it said.

The attack on Russia was made in a two-page presentation of a speech made by Albanian communist leader Enver Hoxha at a recent rally in Tirana, his capital.

Hoxha said Albania would continue to oppose the policies of coexistence with the West followed by the Soviet Union.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's ouster.

He said that to the degree the new Soviet leaders supported Khrushchev's policies, they would be opposed by Albania.

Office Term Is Defined in Court Case

BOJAK, Dec. 5. (AP)—The term of a person appointed to an office in Idaho extends not just up to the November election but until new officers are sworn in in January.

That was the ruling yesterday by the state supreme court in a case involving William W. White, who was appointed to serve as probate judge in Boise county.

The unanimous decision by the high court nullified an earlier ruling by District Judge Merlin S. Young that Ariel Crowley was the probate judge. Judge Young ordered records of the office turned over to him.

White was appointed probate judge by District Judge Merlin S. Young after Crowley left the office for a church mission. He returned and was elected to the office on Nov. 3.

Crowley went to court to get the records. He argued that if he was not elected, he should not be required to turn them over.

Robert J. Koonka, a Boise attorney who appeared for White, maintained that Crowley was elected for a two-year term, beginning next January, and not for a longer period.

He said the lower court ruling had left in doubt the status of all persons holding county elective office in Idaho by appointment.

Considerations

As pressure grows in Idaho for enactment of a sales tax law, the so-called education lobby has to be considered among the forefront of those working for a sales tax. The avowed purpose is simply and openly stated—more pay for teachers. The education lobby has plenty of figures to prove that Idaho's teachers rank among the lowest-paid in the nation. There are no figures to show that Idaho pays its teachers less than any of the neighboring states. That's all well and good, but there are some other factors that should be considered right along with those impressive statistics.

Many parents would like to know how their children compare educationally with children from other states. Are Idaho children being educated to the same degree as children in other states? Are Idaho teachers as well-prepared to teach as those in other states, less prepared or better prepared? How do they compare with other states so far as degree requirements are concerned?

What plans are there, if any, to improve education of Idaho children? How do Idaho high school graduates fare, in comparison with youngsters from other states when they go to college? What percentage of Idaho high school graduates fall in college and how does it compare with the percentages from other states?

These are questions that parents ask among themselves and, understandably, hesitate to ask in the presence of educators. Nevertheless, the answers should be forthcoming. These questions are part of the whole education picture. It's a distinct disservice to parents, children and even teachers to consider only the pay factor without attention to the other elements.

Some members of the education lobby consider any questions not related to pay as almost a insult. It shouldn't be that way. The whole education picture has to be considered and no one should suggest that raising pay of teachers will solve all other problems automatically. Neither should anyone resist questions.

Teachers will get more money from the 38th session of the state legislature, just as they have from every session since World War II. Perhaps some members of the education lobby will not be satisfied with the amount, but then few persons in any walk of life are willing to concede their pay is ample. Percentage-wise, Idaho teachers have fared well in recent years and there's reason to believe they will continue to receive more pay from each new session of the legislature.

However, teachers themselves should start to realize that there's more to the education picture than teachers' pay. Instead of regarding questions about other phases as irrelevant, impertinent or even insulting, the education lobby should bend over backward to answer all questions and consider the whole education picture, not merely teachers' pay. Any other attitude or procedure will serve only to hasten the day when school patrons and taxpayers will look with less favor on pay increases while insisting on answers to other questions.

ROOM TO IMPROVE

When Idaho's legislators get around to discussing the big problem of reapportionment, all Idahoans should hope they realize there's plenty of room to improve. Possibilities for improvement have existed all along, but until the supreme court ruled that reapportionment must be accomplished, there was little chance of ever changing. Now, with the supreme court insisting on the entire legislature being apportioned on the basis of population, Idaho has a real chance to make changes that can promote the general welfare.

The simple truth is that too many state legislators are more interested in playing politics than working for the general benefit of Idaho. The legislature is unwieldy and legislative machinery is awkward. It's also unrealistic to expect the legislature to meet for 60 days only once every two years. No business could survive under conditions that permitted the firm to prepare a budget only once every 24 months.

Perhaps legislators can force themselves to take an objective look at Idaho's legislature and its many shortcomings. It may be asking too much, but the reapportionment session might devote considerable study to Nebraska's unicameral legislature. Nebraska's state lawmakers also are elected on a nonpartisan basis, something that should be given due consideration in Idaho.

The unicameral legislature would solve a space problem in Idaho's state house by reducing the amount of time devoted to playing politics in Boise. It deserves study.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—European diplomats with pipelines to Havana and Cuban exiles with secret agents there generally agree that Fidel Castro is in political as well as economic trouble. "The crack in his communist 'popularity' is showing badly."

It is becoming clear that Fidel has not succeeded in keeping peace between the old-guard communists and the latter-day communists who rose to power with him. The struggle for power has reached the point where the old-guard Tully guard conceivably could mount an overt political offensive to unseat the communist dictator in the valley of "maintaining the purity" of the red front.

Fidel, under pressure from leaders of his July 20th movement, recently purged one of the old guard's heroes—Joanquin Ordoqui. Until his suspension for investigation of his "political conduct," Ordoqui had occupied the key spot as minister of the armed forces. He is the directed communist indoctrination of the Cuban military. The old guard doesn't like to lose a post of such ideological importance.

OPPORTUNISTIC SCRAMBLER—Ordoqui is a typical communist opportunist. He helped old party boss Blas Roca negotiate a treaty with the United States in 1934 by which the reds covertly backed Batista's successful bid for power four years later in return. Batista gave the communist party legal status, which it used to some extent to sabotage Castro's revolutionary movement in 1957-58. Once it was obvious that Batista would prevail, Ordoqui fled and the rest of the red hierarchy joined the rebels.

Obviously, Ordoqui has been purged for allegedly abetting the traitor, Marcos Rodriguez, whose defection in 1957 resulted in the death of four revolutionaries. Ordoqui's record makes the charge logical because he was an ideological scoundrel in the days, but Castro's action against him is mostly political expedience. It is a sop he can safely throw the July 20th group.

But the pro-Castro communists are fighting to hold other important offices. President Osvaldo Dorticos is an old guard, and so are Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, director of Agrarian reform, and Juan Manuel Gaitanero, director of the ruling United Front of the Socialist Revolution. Other old-party functionaries are installed in key provincial posts, giving them grass roots power.

FIDEL NEEDS A FRIEND—Meanwhile, Castro is striving to present the United States with the image of a moderate, pragmatic leader. He is trying to establish relations with Washington. He keeps reminding Western reporters that although he now controls those gift airplanes, missiles and batteries from Russia he has no intention of using them to shoot down American planes. He is a man of peace, he says, and he is a man of peace.

This is just what he is not going to get. The Cuban economy is slowly approaching bankruptcy and the U.S. is not about to step in and halt that process. Castro has to pay cash for most of his imports, and he is able to do so because the Russians are pouring one million dollars a day into the island. Washington does not want to rescue Moscow from its costly adventure in supporting the Castro regime after all the trouble it took to line up Latin America on its side.

In the state department, the watchdog on Cuba is the State Dept. political problems indicate that watchdog is beginning to pay off.

Views of Others

THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM

Most of the people who cast their votes for President Johnson or Senator Goldwater will doubtless take it for granted they are exercising a basic constitutional right secured to them by the founding fathers. In a measure that view is correct. But the founding fathers never intended to give the people the choice of electing a chief executive by direct vote. The president is now elected by the people. Hamilton's comments in the Federalist were similar. During the first decade of our history, however, it was always the choice of the electors who were to elect the president. The electors were to be chosen by the people. The electors were to be chosen by the people. The electors were to be chosen by the people.

The founding fathers gave the state legislatures authority to "appoint" presidential electors in any manner they might approve. Some of the founding fathers assumed the states would choose the electors. The people in turn would choose the President. But since the states were left a broad margin of discretion, they proceeded to exercise it.

Some legislatures divided their states into districts and allowed voters to choose an elector. Others had all the state's electors chosen on a general ticket. Still other legislatures kept the choice entirely within their own hands. Sometimes part of the electors were elected at the polls and the remainder were appointed by the legislature. The electors were to be chosen by the people. The electors were to be chosen by the people. The electors were to be chosen by the people.

On one occasion the New York legislature repealed its law for the purpose of electing electors by direct vote. The legislature was to be chosen by the people. The legislature was to be chosen by the people. The legislature was to be chosen by the people.

Lucius Wilmerding Jr., tells the story in the electoral college system. Manipulation of the presidential election system became an open scandal, and the people began to demand change. The dilemma was finally resolved in 1830 when the last of the states using district elections and legislative appointments came to adopt the "general ticket" plan for the naming of electors, excepting only South Carolina which still kept its electors chosen by the legislature. The system has since prevailed with minor exceptions, but the states are still at liberty to change it at will, and almost every election brings some kind of manipulation to remind us of how vulnerable to abuse the system is. —The Washington Post.

Q AND A
(Recently) 300 airline stewards had a convention in Chicago. One of the questions they asked of their bosses concerned the food service for passengers on the coming March 3 (three times the speed of sound) flight.

For example, if a flight from London to New York is scheduled to leave London at 10:00 a.m. and arrive in New York at 1:00 p.m., the flight will be in the air for three hours. The flight will be in the air for three hours. The flight will be in the air for three hours.

Or, stewards will be leaving Manila at 11 a.m. and arriving in Los Angeles at 1:00 p.m. The flight will be in the air for three hours. The flight will be in the air for three hours. The flight will be in the air for three hours.

Lot of Chickens Back to Roost

Religion in America

BY LOUIS CASSELL

United Press International
Jesus commanded his disciples to go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every living creature. He warned that their mission would not always be well received—that they could expect persecution for their faith and for their love of humanity and justice.

In 1961, when riding broke out following the Congo's sudden transition to independence, all American missionaries were evacuated from the Congo. Mr. Tucker, who by then had three children, reluctantly joined the exodus. But after a few months in neighboring Kenya, the Tucker family returned to the Congo.

This summer, when new outbreaks of racial violence began to occur in the interior of the Congo, the Tuckers were in America on furlough. Some of their friends tried to persuade them not to go back until things settled down. But Joe Tucker said that he could not let his African friends think that he was afraid to live among them.

Three months ago, the Tuckers returned to their post in the village of Fungu, 220 miles north of Stanleyville. Within a few weeks of their return, the village was captured by rebels, and the Tuckers were seized, along with other Protestant and Catholic missionaries, and held in a prison.

Last week, on the day before Thanksgiving, as rescue forces neared the village, the Rev. Mr. Tucker was dragged from the house in which he had been held under arrest, and was bent on his way to freedom.

According to refugees who witnessed his recapture, it was not a quick and merciful death. The beating took 45 minutes, one blow at a time, with each new blow falling after his groans from the previous blow had ended.

Mrs. Tucker and the children were released and taken to Leopoldville. They were flown home to America last week. Reporters who asked Mrs. Tucker at Leopoldville why she was so impressed with her lack of bitterness, her only comment was: "I understand why these things happen."

In their minute, compressed sentence you can hear quite clearly the echo of another voice, speaking from across the years. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

ment but then, of course, it might be poor strategy to telegraph a punch to the communists ahead of time.

Yet, all through 1964 Johnson has given the impression of a man who is not at all different from what he has been in the past and what he has been doing was limited even though the war troubled day by day.

Johnson's hesitancy about broadening the war is understandable, although he may lose it. If, for instance, North Vietnam were bombed, Red China might come to its aid, thus turning a small war into an American-Chinese war.

Meanwhile, it's not just the war itself that is frustrating the American efforts. The South Vietnamese themselves are doing it, slowly sinking their country into chaos with their own instability and riots against their government.

The White House statement, which said the U.S. policy of providing all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people is a repetition of what he said last Jan. 1.

He promised the Vietnamese that American forces and matériel would be sent to help them in "achieving victory."

At other times in 1964 he promised this country "would stand firm" in Viet Nam and that withdrawal was "strategically unsound" and "morally unthinkable." At the same time he said enlargement of the war would be "reckless."

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

BOMBAY, Dec. 5—As Pope Paul VI set foot for the first time on the soil of India an extraordinary era for the Roman Catholic church was inaugurated. This first-hand meeting of Rome and India, the center of the world, is a new and fabulous chapter for both worlds.

For the church is a catholic religion, the universal of Catholicism. Attending the 38th International Eucharistic Congress, the pope heads a delegation of distinguished churchmen from every part of the world. But the emphasis is on Asia and Africa and the congress is a new chapter in the church's history.

Marquis Childs, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, writes in his new book, "The Pope and the People," that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Valerian Cardinal Gracias, the first Indian cardinal, presiding at the congress, said that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Leading a study session on "the missionary task of the church" as part of the Eucharistic congress, Cardinal Gracias said that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Over the past few years, the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Deep religious feeling was for a time a threat to the church's mission. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

These and innumerable other branches and offshoots of the principal religions have their place in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Through many fields as a man with a bright enthusiasm, he has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

By IAL ROYLE
NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—How does Gary Grant stay so young? This is the question that, since his marriage to the actress, has been asked of him. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Golden Age of the movies. After making more than 60 films, Grant is still a young man. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

Grant answers with a kind of half-embarrassed, bantering seriousness. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

"I don't know what there's any trick to it," he said. "I try to live in truth and keep relaxed."

"I don't try to follow any regular program. I ride a lot, like to swim."

"I try to do what I want to do at the time. I don't eat many fatty foods, but I really don't know whether that's important or not."

"I eat only when I'm hungry, and read when I'm bored. Sometimes I don't sleep for three days. Other times I go to bed for the whole week-end."

A talk with Grant is a ramble that.

after he was doubled at two diamonds, he stood by his gun and displayed the hand to go down. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

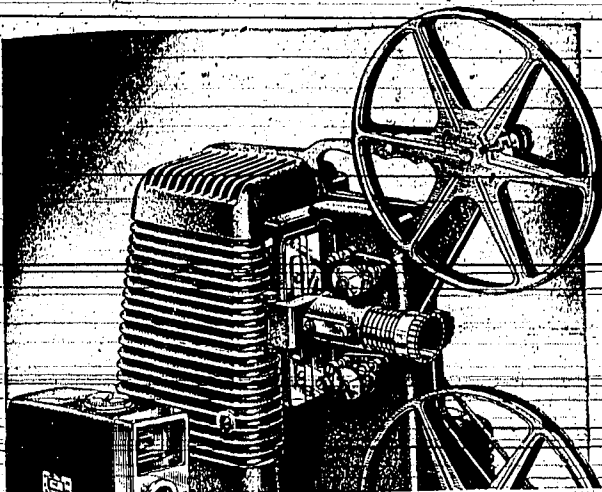

South won the spade opening in dummy and led the diamond. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world. He says that the church has been a force for good in the world.

GI Insurance Affected by Legislation

Idaho veterans of World War II or the Korean conflict with a non-service connected disability as severe as they cannot purchase commercial life insurance at any price, may be eligible for GI insurance after May 1.

New legislation has re-opened National Service Life Insurance for certain veterans not holding the full $10,000 GI insurance coverage. Loryn E. Kopan, director of the Boise center, announced. Included among the eligible veterans are those who were connected with service with severe disabilities. Kopan noted.

Full information may be obtained by writing or visiting the veterans center at 1414 and 14th streets, Boise, or by calling 342-3881, extension 205 or 206 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Kopan also reported a speed-up payment of $24.5 million dollars in 1965 GI insurance dividends, of which $103,000 will go to Idaho veterans.

In Idaho the dividends will be divided among 26,416 veterans, holders of World War I, U.S. government life insurance and World War II National Service life insurance. Kopan noted.

Kopan stated that it is hoped the entire payment could be started immediately after New Year's day and completed by Jan. 10.

One-Way Traffic in Rupert Area Is Discussed by Chamber of Commerce

RUPERT, Dec. 5 — One-way traffic committee reports and a proposed plan for a new one-way street in the Rupert area were discussed by the chamber of commerce at a luncheon meeting Thursday at the Herring cafe.

Ed Culver, chief of police, asked for a discussion on the one-way traffic problem in the city square recently. He reported some complaints concerning the traffic had been reported to the police station. Members of the chamber generally agreed the one-way traffic was very satisfactory, even the most skeptical agreed that it was a big improvement. Culver reported the accidents had dropped over half involving collisions around the city area.

Culver also talked briefly on the upsurge of check forgery in the area. He stated a plan was being formulated to ask banks to issue identification cards with bank accounts and to away with counter checks. This plan of course, would involve bank managers and cooperation would be needed on the part of all merchants. A real problem exists in this area concerning check forgery, Culver emphasized.

Dale Garner, state representative of Minidoka county and a member of the highway committee, reported on activity in the area concerning the improved highways. He noted the interchange between Paul and Burley was now completed and bids were being let for highway 20 to 22nd River and work should begin this summer.

A new port of entry station is being constructed south of Burley and will feature a dual station. One station will serve southbound vehicles and one will serve northbound vehicles. Construction plans also includes the landscaping of the area, states Garner. The Stravell port of entry will be closed and the new port will be in operation sometime in the spring of 1964.

Garner noted the completed road between Rupert and Burley was a fine addition to the area and highway 24 between Minidoka and the county would be completed in the next three years. At the present only 14 miles remain to be oiled. The road, in good condition at the present time and cuts off many miles of travel.

Construction on the freeway from the Paul, Burley area into Jerome county has been held up due to irrigation problems during the summer months, but work is now underway. Garner said completion of that road has been scheduled by 1969. Also, the area west of Rupert in front of the Minidoka county high school has some real rough spots and Garner said during sessions, district engineer, reported the road would be resurfaced next spring when the weather is warm.

George MacDonald reported on meeting with the Ministerial association in connection with starting a Newcomers club in the county. New residents in the area would be visited and welcomed to the county and given certificates for merchandise from new arrival business organizations. The chamber members gave the Rupert Merchants committee their cooperation in looking into such a club for the county.

Richard Dohle, chamber president reported on the recent election of officers for the chamber. New officers for 1965 include Marvin Ling, president; Henry Decker, vice president; and C. R. (Bob) Jones, secretary-treasurer.

Two T.F. Youths Join Air Force

Two Twin Falls youths recently enlisted in the air force for four years, according to Ed Bailey, Harman, new local recruiter.

They are Thomas C. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chad Thompson and Gary E. Dillon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dillon. They enlisted for Lockheed prior to leaving for Lockheed air force base. Any person interested in obtaining information on various programs are asked to contact the air force recruiting office at 226 Main avenue east, or by calling 733-1601.

and Kenneth Bell. The new officers will be installed at the annual election banquet held during the latter part of January.

Bailey also reminded members to make arrangements to be at the chamber office at 7 p.m. Thursday to help bag candy for Santa Claus to be given away Saturday afternoon at the city square. Santa Claus will be at the civic building Saturday afternoon to visit with parents and children. He also reported no meeting will be held Dec. 24.

Yule Party Planned by Buhl Grange

BUEL, Dec. 5 — The quarterly potluck birthday dinner, annual Christmas party with gift exchange will be observed during the Thursday meeting. It was announced when Buhl Grange met in special session Thursday night.

It was noted the event will begin at 7 p.m. Gifts are not to exceed 50 cents, reported Mrs. Kenneth Shrader, hostess, committee chairman.

Grange "debut" were conferred on three new members, Mrs. Marie Latham, and Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Lammings. It was noted Elmer Phillips received a certificate from the grange for having his lecture.

Association Schedules Meet in T.F.

Magic Valley Guidance association will meet in the faculty lounge of the Twin Falls senior high school at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

All guidance personnel in the area and their wives or husbands are urged to attend. School administrators, board members, parents or those who are interested in guidance are invited, according to Herbert Smith, counselor from Twin Falls. Larry Rowe, counselor with the local employment security agency will be moderator for a panel discussion on the subject, "The contribution that can be made by the high school counselor as seen by a parent, a school board member, a counselor, a probation judge, a high school principal and a director of public health service."

Members of the panel will be Walter Blaugher, Kimberly, James Morse, Gooding; Tom Utterback, Valley, and Mrs. Zoe Ann Shaub, and Dr. Luther Thompson, both Twin Falls. Smith, who is president of the association, said he expects a large attendance because of the increased importance of guidance to students and people in Magic Valley.

reports in on schedule. Mrs. Norma Davis and Mrs. Phillips were reported in the sick list. It was voted to remodel the altar in the Grange hall. For the program Grange reported things that they were

Times-News Public Forum—Voice of the Reader

Farm Bureau Officials Rap Newspaper Editorial Critic

Editor, Times-News: "No one is more critical of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation for attempting to further the best interests of its members," you said in your lead editorial on Nov. 25, evening edition, and Nov. 26, morning edition.

Then you proceed to rip into the Farm Bureau for doing exactly that in its recently adopted tax resolution.

"There will be some Idaho residents," you said, "who will interpret the Farm Bureau's resolutions as just one more indication of the necessity for state legislation to reapportionment, run to put the legislature in the hands of citizens who are more interested in the general welfare and future of the state as a whole and perhaps a little less interested in their personal welfare."

With whom do you propose to replace these "idiot" legislators who are also Farm Bureau members? Perhaps with labor union leaders, or members of teachers' organizations, or members of any other group of businessmen, lawyers, doctors, etc., any of whom undoubtedly would be more interested in the general welfare of the state than the titillation of their own groups—according to you. Or perhaps with leaders of the huge corporations who won't locate here because they can't get tax advantages, or perhaps with editors.

Farmers are not so interested in achieving tax advantages as they are in getting tax equality. In 1962 personal income of farm proprietors was 10.6 percent of total personal income in Idaho. In the same year farm proprietors paid 1.5 percent of total property taxes.

Farm Bureau has proposed a plan it believes equitable, details of which were printed in Friday's Times-News.

Legislators represent the people and farmers are people. Farmers represent an industry you already have. Without them you would need a lot more.

Forum Rules

Letters are limited to 200 words on matters of public controversy. Letters must comply with the laws of libel and slander and must be in good taste. No pseudonyms or pen names are permitted; all letters must be signed with the true name and address of the writer. Length of letters will be limited to 300 words. Letter writers will be returned to the writers.

Writer Defends Chief of FBI, Raps Dr. King

Editor, Times-News: "This letter is in defense of J. Edgar Hoover. Should this man, who has given 40 years of loyal, unblemished and dedicated service to his country, be tossed out and forgotten because he answered Dr. Martin Luther King in kind? Perhaps he should have asked the press gathering to please inform the Negro people that their leader, Dr. King, upon whom a doctorate has been bestowed, should have learned a smattering of the functions of the U.S. government along the way and that the FBI does not have the authority to protect one person or person, but only to investigate and report those findings to the justice department."

Maybe director Hoover is not "hip" to the new frontier of great society's etiquette and protocol, but as long as he still has the courage to call a spade a spade, I'm for him. To my knowledge, J. Edgar Hoover has never played on the political football field. His news—our moral support, and we need J. Edgar Hoover—and his men, now more than ever before.

Let's begin a chain-letter reaction to President Johnson re-nouncing that director J. Edgar Hoover continue as head of the FBI.

All you need to do is put this item in an envelope and mail it. It will be a vote of confidence for a most deserving man.

MRS. KAREN DAWSON (Twin Falls)

Shoshone Girl Defends Beatles, Hits Forum Letter

Editor, Times-News: "I don't like what Mrs. Horsh wrote and this is what I think. I realize that you (Mrs. Horsh) probably don't like the Beatles. However, I suppose when you were a teenager, you would all around watching everybody doing the jitterbug."

As far as repulsive notes, the Beatles have a great beat and their notes are just wonderful. You know there is a knob on your television that you can turn off when there is something offensive to your taste. I do when there are football games, when my brothers aren't home.

I wouldn't doubt it a bit if Frank Sinatra was, and maybe still is, your favorite. Isn't he, bet you're mad but if you can get your thoughts out, so can I. I know people like you here, that are just as stubborn as you and it doesn't get them anywhere. We love the Beatles and we wouldn't be sick up for them and if everybody were like you this would never have progressed like it did.

KATHY TRENNLE (Shoshone)

Woman Says Letter Writer Denies UNICEF Fund Misuse

Editor, Times-News: "Mr. Bailey, chairman UNICEF committee, does not 'refute', but only denies, Mrs. Nelson's charges. He denies 'misuse', not use, of UNICEF funds to finance the UN horror in the Congo."

He says "the charge—that 90 percent of the committee are or have been communist-affiliated is unfounded, preposterous because it is made up of religious, labor, social welfare, etc., leaders of our country. While most people in these fields are not communists, still there are the very fields—the two or three percent of communists in any country endeavor to infiltrate."

Examine UNICEF Christmas cards. They do glorify the UN, not Christianity; compare the article's names with congressional investigations, many are communists.

Whether or not 95 percent of the U.S. contributors to UNICEF are in the U.S., the facts remain: The U.S. taxpayer foots the bill; there is no satisfactory accounting of how the money is used; the U.S., with a national debt larger than that of all other countries in the world combined, has been contributing more than all other countries that involved. When we have spent ourselves to death, who will take care of our children?

UNICEF is closely allied to

Federal Aid Is Short Route To Socialism, Man Asserts

Editor, Times-News: "Federal aid is the direct path to the deprivation of man's freedom. There is no place in our form of government to have federal aid and freedom, now or ever. Federal aid is the shortest route to socialism. Socialism tries to make all men equal but any one with common knowledge knows that equal men are not free and free men are not equal. The supreme court has ruled that which the government subsidizes it has the right to control."

In socialist America today, one-fourth of the people live off the other three-fourths, completely or partially. Forty-eight million people are getting regular government checks. This is rough on the ones of us that don't get any, in fact, it is rough on the people delivering this amount of money to every other household in America. So what, say the socialists, "we owe this to ourselves."

A man that is for more spending and less taxes is immoral since it requires public theft from us and unborn generations. Deficit spending has become a way of life and unless we "rebel" we will become a way of death for our free enterprise system.

We have had the new deal, double deal and fast deal under the new frontier and now we have the great society under the flying frontier who wants to increase defense spending under such names as: foreign aid, national defense education act for students to study anthropology and sociology, the United Nations and other entitles. Anything that helps to promote creeping communism is at top of the list and the first on the agenda for immediate legislation once the congress convenes for their next session.

J. P. KING (Burley)

Writer Says Both Parties Can Benefit From Election

Editor, Times-News: "I have been approached by many different people to write my opinion as to how both major political parties may benefit from this last landslide in the election."

In the first place I do not believe it is good for either party to spend the taxpayers' money for political purposes. Too many times people and business firms get large tax write-offs and then contribute thousands of dollars to elect the person that will go along with their pet selfish program.

I believe the president and the congress should stop any tax write-off to any person or firm that uses money in this manner, of which they need to a move any way at all.

It is this method of people

Rock and Roll Fan Raps Critic of Beatle Program

Editor, Times-News: "I am writing in reference to that crude and highly degrading letter about the Beatle program. I am under the impression that this obvious Rudolph Valentino is trying to tell us something. Mainly Mrs. Ruth Horsh is against teenagers enjoying any type of music. Well, I have one comment—Mrs. Horsh and I have one thing in common—we are both teenagers. Mrs. Horsh had favorite songs and singers so why shouldn't we? She probably screamed and fainted for certain performers so why can't we, the teenagers, have our chance?"

Mrs. Horsh also made the rash statement that her family never watches television—anywhere because of the poor shows. Well, what about the historical and informative shows Mrs. Horsh? Do you take so much time slandering rock 'n' roll groups that you don't have time to see what's happening in the world?

As for rock 'n' roll having a bad effect on a teen-ager's mind, you might as well know that I listen to rock 'n' roll all the time and I maintain a B average in school.

By closing I will state something that just because the Beatles are new and different some of the older generation think their idols are receding farther into the background. With this in mind they go back with the usual disgust of the teen-age generation. Here is where I will put forth my plea—you teenagers, how let us live ours! There is a normal procedure performed when one does not enjoy a certain program, Mrs.

Buhl Girl Says Apology Not Needed for Beatles Program

Editor, Times-News: "In rebuttal to Mrs. Horsh's article of last week I feel I must come to the defense of the Beatles. In what they have accomplished and what they stand for."

I would hate to see a mass exodus to the trash can with your TV set by those who may have been brain-washed by this article.

The last thing our local TV station should feel, would be ashamed for having presented these programs to our so-called "highly educated" audience.

The Beatles are a group of young English boys whose music and entertainment has been clean, moral and entertaining in whatever they have sang or wherever they have performed. These have been enjoyed by many, both young and old.

It is much more than pure coincidence that during their performance in New York, a city of ten million people, not one crime was committed during these performances. Would those who feel this way prefer a bottle and an automobile?

Look Out for "Four Eyes," Writer Warns

Editor, Times-News: "To my friend at the Mormon Reservoir and friends in the Magic Valley, I had lost my casting rod line and while I was waiting for the fish to go around my out my trolling rod and there I fixed my casting line and reel. As I threw it in the water, up came four eyes and wouldn't reason at all, so I paid my fine. Look out for four eyes at the lake or reservoir."

Students Rap Editorial on Professor's Recent Remarks

Editor, Times-News: "We wish to voice our opinion in regard to your editorial criticizing Dr. Joseph Dadabay of the College of Idaho (as well as other prominent educators) who spoke at a recent meeting of social welfare workers in Pocatello."

First, we believe you have interpreted Dr. Dadabay's phrase "village values" incorrectly. This was an objective statement implying no value judgment; rather, it was those who read these words who placed a derogatory value on his terminology.

In his speech, Dr. Dadabay did not condemn football and hunting as valuable forms of recreation. He was implying that it is a serious handicap to the individual as well as to society when leisure time is squandered with sports to the exclusion of all intellectual endeavors.

Your statement that Dr. Dadabay would do well to devote a "little time and effort to creating some intellectual curiosity" is rather true. We consider a seven-year teaching career on the college level, in addition to the years of preparation involved, to be valid proof that

Policemen Help Curb Shoplifting

More than adults this year but adults have been seen trying to shoplift. Just a few weeks ago we caught three teen-agers with a short period of time, he added.

Manager of Bonanza store, Main avenue north, said "This is a tremendous problem. Now that store owners are prosecuting offenders with maximum penalties it may not be as bad as it used to be."

"During the year more juveniles have been caught here but during this holiday season more adults have been caught," he stated.

Items small enough to put inside someone's coat or purse or hidden in the palm of someone's hand are usually taken, but larger items have been taken.

Several other means have been considered and taken to stop the rash of shoplifters during the Christmas holidays.

Some store owners have erected large, curved mirrors on the walls around the store. This way employees can keep an eye on shoppers without leaving their positions.

Others have special employees whose job it is to walk around the store and keep an eye on shoppers.

Storeowners urge Twin Falls area residents who shop in their stores to report shoplifters or any sign of shoplifting to an employee of the store. This is still another way to curb the problem.

No matter what extremes a store manager may go to, the problem will still exist. But everytime a shoplifter is caught, he will be prosecuted.

Stores such as J.C. Penney company, Sears, Roebuck and company, Idaho Department stores, several drugstores, J. J. Newberry's, stores in the Lyons road shopping center and Blue Lakes shopping center have reported trouble with shoplifters, as have others.

Twin Falls police department has received several calls from stores complaining about shoplifters. Some are minor, some offenders manage to escape, but the majority of them are caught and prosecuted.

BUREAU TO MEET
CLOVER, Dec. 5—Clover Farm Bureau will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Clover Lutheran school. Reports of state and county conventions will be heard, states Hugo Meyer, chairman.

WATCHING FOR SHOPLIFTERS is Collins Helms, Twin Falls policeman, who, when off duty, watches a Twin Falls store. This is a big problem in Twin Falls stores but steps have been taken to stop it. Juveniles or adults, when caught, are prosecuted to the fullest extent. (Times-News photo)

Claremont Grange Gets Utility Light

MURLEY, Dec. 5—A utility light will be installed at the Claremont Grange hall, courtesy of the Unity Power and Light company, Frank Messenger, murmur, announced today.

John Jones, power company official, spoke at the Grange meeting Wednesday night. Grange officers were installed by Ed Schwagler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messenger, Mrs. Maureen Fowler and Mrs. Schwagler.

A report was given by Oliver Burt on the Youth Ranch, Rupert. A thank you letter was read from the district 4-II for the cookies furnished their meeting by the Grange.

Phil Nelson reported on Grange insurance and showed a filmstrip on the hazards of fire in the home and on the farm. The next meeting will be the annual Christmas exchange among members, with each woman requested to furnish a pie.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilcox and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messenger.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, Dec. 6—Born today, you are possessed of a keen intelligence, combined as it is with an amazing degree of foresight, should enable you to make your mark in the world at a relatively early age. It would not be surprising if you have amassed one fortune, and are well on the way to the next by the time you reach middle life.

You must take care in one thing: Losing that fortune may be for you not easy and as swift as making it. You enjoy the good things in life; thus, much may be spent on yourself and your own family. You also have a tender, sympathetic heart, one touched by even the slightest hardship. Thus, much may be spent on others. Learn to temper your generosity with prudence, and all should be well financially.

Although you are quite able to survive emotionally independent of others, you are not necessarily willing to do that. A mate is essential if you are to feel your role of man or woman played to the full and, though marriage is not necessary to your satisfaction, a person, is quite necessary to your feeling of being completely happy.

Among those born on this date are: Agnes Moorehead, actress; The Cornhorns, noted vocalists; Joyce Kilmer, famed English poet.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, Dec. 7
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)—Make sure to put on your KU gloves before you attempt to handle ticklish personal affairs. A mistake could be costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20)—Best to approach the standpoint of things from a business angle. Socially, initiative solutions, so far, come later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Keep one eye out for opportunity—but be sure to keep the other eye on what you're doing. Authorities give no margin for error today!

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—New responsibilities may mean difficulties. It would be worth your while to give them a try, however. See what you can do!

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—It's true that chickens do come home to roost; nevertheless, you should avoid counting them before they're hatched!

Taurus (April 21-May 21)—Caution is advised if you would avoid loss. You would be wise not to put all your eggs in one basket. There might be a hole in it!

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—This could be the day for making contacts vital to your new-laid plans. Present projects need aid in getting off the ground.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Avoid taking on new ventures while your immediate future is still up in the air. Know what you want, before making further plans.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Make an effort to keep this day on an even keel—which may be difficult, considering the high possibility for unusual happenings.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—A day when words may bring of little value in convincing the preconceived notions of others. Best to ignore gossip.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Keep alert to a possible emergency situation. The quicker you answer a distress call, the better!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Use your intuition to come up with new methods for old projects. You can improve the present immensely.

Santa Barbara's Rally Overcomes 10-Point Deficit

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Dec. 5 (AP)—The University of California at Santa Barbara upended a battling University of Idaho team 76-48 tonight but had to overcome a 10-point lead to do it. The Idaho Vandals jumped off to an early lead and kept it through most of the first half, although falling behind 35-33 at halftime. Idaho rebounded early in the second half and with nine minutes left on the clock were on the big end of a 36-35 lead, their biggest of the night.

The Catschies, headed by Tom Lee and John Peterson, launched a two-man attack, aided by a rash of violations by Idaho, and regained the lead seven minutes before the final gun sounded. Lee had 31 points for the winners, just one shy of the all-time UCSB mark. He was followed in scoring by Peterson, with most of his 14 points coming in the last minute drive.

Headlining the Vandals' scoring was Jerry Skille with 19 and Tom Moreland with 10 points. UCSB's record is now 2-0 on the season while Idaho owns a 1-2 mark.

A small University of Nevada basketball team combined ball control and free throw accuracy Friday night and upset the Vandals 60-53.

Idaho, which Tuesday night had opened its schedule by losing to Washington State, was hurt by numerous personal fouls in the last portion of the game.

Idaho adopted an over-aggressive-practice in the late minutes as Nevada played keep-away to nurse a slim lead. Besides cutting the Vandals from the free throw stripes, Nevada's diminutive Frank Bruno slipped through for the fast break after the final whistle.

Taylor Passes 1,000-Yard Mark As Packers Batter Bears 17-3

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Fleet Willie Wood's brilliant punt returns and Jim Taylor's battering to his fifth successive 1,000-yard rushing season swept the Green Bay Packers to a 17-3 National Football League victory over the Chicago Bears today. Wood's punt returns of 64 and 42 yards set up both Green Bay touchdowns in the nationally televised game before 43,646 shivering fans in snow-stepped

Dietrich Rips Grand View In 83-51 Tilt

DIETRICH, Calif., Dec. 5 (AP)—The Dietrich Blue Devils got off to a slow start to night but broke through the Grand View press to lead 17-0 at the first quarter. Dietrich led 23-17 at the first quarter but Grand View came within 23-20 at the end of the first half.

St. Mary's held a one-point half-time edge and bottled up the shooting from the middle in the second half with a three-two score.

California picked the ball to come, nicely and waited for good shots from the floor, mostly from the outside.

St. Mary's led dominated the boards during the first half, but Santa Barbara of California started snatching the ball off the boards in the second half.

Utah State University easily rolled up its third straight basketball victory tonight by downing Loyola of California 90-69.

Loyola never seriously threatened and was ahead only once, early in the game. Aggie Wayne Bates paced all scorers with 27 points before being taken out with nearly a quarter of the game to go.

Jumping sensation LeRoy Walker was second high scorer for USU with 18. He fouled out early in the second half.

The game was led by Dick Schindler with 23 points.

Pirates Erupt In Last Half, Drop Wolves

HAVERMAN, Dec. 5 (AP)—A 17-point third quarter led the Haverman Pirates' punt away from the field and into a 43-33 victory over the Cascade Wolves.

But in the third quarter, Cascade forced Haverman into a punt and that let the Pirates build up their final margin.

Opening Greeted by Enthusiastic Audience

BY NORMA HENZINGER

A near-capacity crowd greeted the Twin Falls Civic Symphony on their opening night concert performance at the O'Leary junior high school.

Even though the weather outside was damp and dreary for this opening night concert, orchestra members were met with a radiant reception from the audience for their successful performance.

It is said that nervousness, butterflies in the stomach and a bit of doubtfulness go with each performer on an opening night. If this were true of members of the Twin Falls Civic Symphony orchestra, it went unnoticed by the enthusiastic audience.

The social hour that followed the concert was attended by orchestra members, their husbands or wives and families. This informal social is held so members can become better acquainted.

"During rehearsals, there is no time for socializing," says Mrs. R. A. Butchell, business manager for the group, "so the members feel this special time for conversation is a must." This social gathering provides pleasant means of relaxation for the members after being "keyed up" for the performance.

Complexion Beautifier

The complexion takes on new beauty through the use of a tropical moist oil that feeds nourishing vitamins to the skin. Being lotionic in action, it revitalizes the plasma-cells (the skin's water carriers) and the complexion looks on a glorious, youthful bloom. Smoothes over the face and neck before makeup is applied. This moisture of oil makes the complexion youthfully clear, wrinkle-free and lovely. Ask your druggist to get you a small supply.

NANCY SUE PRESTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Preston, Declo, enjoys her bobcat kitten, "Gorgeous George," and her white tabby cat "Snowball." The two animals have become good playmates even though Snowball was quite leery at the first meeting. The Prestons have had the claws removed from the bobcat and report Gorgeous George entertains them with his clever tricks. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

"Gorgeous George," a 4-month-old bobcat kitten, has become a member of the Fred Preston household, south of DECLO. He is a playful fellow, who shares the attention of the Preston's 11-year-old daughter, Nancy Sue, with a pure white kitten named "Snowball." The kittens romp and play together and have become good playmates even though Snowball was quite leery at their first meeting. All the other cats on the farm are afraid of Gorgeous, Nancy Sue has taken the best care of her new pet. He was only a week-old when the Prestons brought him home, along with two other baby bobcats, which they gave to friends.

"Gorgeous" was placed in a box with a piece of paper, along with a towel to snuggle on. Nancy fed him a special milk formula from a doll bottle for seven weeks.

"Then he began taking cow's milk. He would stand on his hind paws with his front paws on the bottle, as if he were holding it. Now he eats meat and other scraps like common cats."

Even though the two kittens are near the same age, "Snowball" is twice the size of "Gorgeous." He has a yellowish-brown fur covered with dark spots and his fur is very soft and thick. They say the bobcat is closely related to the lynx.

House cats and wild cats are both of the cat family and have similar characteristics such as purring when they are happy and hissing when they are angry. They both arch their backs when they meet an enemy or are frightened.

Members of the cat family are able to see better in the dim light or at night than man or any other animal. Their eyes shine in the dark. They have a keen sense of smell and are one of the cleanest of animals. They lick the back of their paws, then wash their face with their wet paws. Their rough tongue is also used to clean the body.

"Gorgeous" has his baby teeth, which he will shed in the next month or two. Preston took him to the veterinarian where he was one month old to have his claws pulled. Then his paws were bandaged. Bandages were left on for a week. Cats have five toes on the front feet and four on the hind feet.

Bobcats are by nature nocturnal creatures so "Gorgeous" sleeps during the day and is most playful late in the evening. He does not meow like a house cat, but has his own special sound. The Preston family which if as far as the fall elk hunt is concerned.

Dr. M. J. Moore, Lemhi county health officer and Gerald Butler, Steele Memorial Hospital administrator, went elk hunting a year ago this fall.

The vehicle—Dr. Moore was driving and off the road and down a hillside into a tree. Both hunters had to walk out, with Butler saying something about if they ever went hunting again, he would do the driving.

Recently they went hunting for elk again in the same general area near Lemhi pass and the vehicle Butler was driving hit a slick spot in the road, slid into a rock and turned upside down in the roadway.

A passerby helped the hunters right the vehicle and they drove back to Salmon, minus a windshield, in below freezing temperatures.

What about next year? Butler said there won't be any elk hunting next fall. They've been grounded by their wives.

Murray says he really enjoys tending the family with his cute and clever kids.

Law Provides Aid for Poor Defendants without bail pending their trials. The experiment, conducted in cooperation with a social welfare agency known as the Vera Foundation, was based on the theory that many "good risks" were jailed solely because they did not have the cash to pay a bondsman even though there was every likelihood they would appear in court.

The benefits from such an approach are obvious. The government saves the costs of jailing a prisoner and the accused is able to continue to work and lead a normal life while awaiting his day in court. It also tends to give the poor man the same advantage as his rich counterpart—who would have no trouble putting up bond.

Greater strides toward equalizing the status of the rich man for crime are expected when the criminal justice act of 1964 takes effect next August.

That law sets up procedures for defendants who cannot afford their own attorneys to have legal advice from their first appearance before a U.S. commissioner through the appeals court.

It also provides for payments for investigative services — blood tests, detective work, fingerprint and ballistic examinations — on behalf of the government. Indigent accused, juveniles are placed on lawyers, and investigators' fees. Finally, it directs the federal courts to set up a plan for putting the congressional directive into effect from the year from the law's enactment next Aug. 20.

Crazy Quilt Assesment Ratio Curbs Tax Program

BY KEN ROBINSON
TWIN FALLS, Dec. 5 (U)—The state constitution says that property must be taxed equally in proportion to its value, but that provision is ignored in the crazy quilt of assessment ratios on real property in Idaho's 44 counties. A $15,000 home in one county worth the same in the real estate market as another in a nearby county is assessed at far less. For tax purposes a farm in one county is valued at more than one like it in another.

Average rates of real property assessment range from 11.4 per cent of full value to 31 per cent, depending on the county you live in.

Different classes of property are also assessed differently. Utilities, such as railroads, power, telephone and gas companies, pay an average assessment of 10 per cent of full value across the state. Business property is assessed at 20 per cent, farm property an average 15 and residential property 10.

Legislation may be introduced in the 1955 session to require a uniform 14.4 wide assessment ratio.

Two questions are involved, whether all counties should use the same, and whether all classes of property should be assessed the same. It would be possible to retain "class ratios" for various kind of property, but make them uniform throughout the state.

Or it would be possible to require the "same assessment" regardless of what kind of property is involved.

That would slap higher taxes on most of the home owners in the state, at the same time generally easing the tax bite on the farmer, on business property and on the utilities.

Needless to say, such change would stir controversy and could run into tough sledding because there are so many home owners. The Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, a private group, figured should require a reduction in mill levies so the amount of money collected in the county remains unchanged. He also said an average $10 is paid per $100 assessed valuation in the state, and with a uniform ratio of 25 per cent that could be reduced to an average $7.20.

Twin Falls Times-News
Sunday, Dec. 6, 1964

The argument for taxing homes at a lower rate than utility, business and farm property is that homes are not income-producing property, while the others are. Some states have a class difference, others don't.

One argument for an equal ratio for all classes is that it would make Idaho a more attractive state for business and industry.

A sales tax with provisions for property tax reduction would have the same effect.

Uniform ratios for all counties, with or without class differences, would be beneficial in a number of ways.

The Idaho Municipal league favors a uniform ratio. Executive Secretary Ed Braunman said villages in some counties can't raise enough money for their operation with the fixed general operating levy limit. He cited as an example one north Idaho county that possesses at 25 per cent, with one next to it at 11 per cent.

D. P. Engelking, superintendent of public instruction, said the only way to get equalization in distribution of state funds to school districts.

Banding Gradually Solves Questions About Mysterious Migration of Birds

By JIM HUNTER
Idaho fish and game department
BOISE, Dec. 5 — Many of the fascinating mysteries about bird migrations are being solved through banding and other studies.

But it will be a sorry day if these twice-a-day marvels become so commonplace that no longer lifts his face to the sky and thrills to the sights and sounds of the winged creatures and slopes willing songs about wanting to go where the wild geese go.

It now is known, for example, that birds do not winter on the moon, as once was believed. Neither are they transformed into fishes until spring, as by bands relieved from the legs of migratory birds are more remarkable than the erroneous oldtime ideas.

For example, a pintail duck banded in eastern Idaho was recovered in Siberia. Hummingbirds have enough flight power to cross the Gulf of Mexico, a distance of about 500 miles. Arctic terns fly about 25,000 miles every year, almost pole to pole.

Until lately, authorities explained simply that young birds learned to navigate long distances from their elders. Present-day ornithologists say it isn't so, at least not for all migratory bird species. Young mourning doves are exceptions. They do not wait for the parent birds to finish feeding chores before pulling off for warmer climes. They head south at the age of five or six weeks and the older birds follow when green turns to red and gold.

The authors of a chapter in a definitive anthology just off the press this year are of the opinion that waterfowl tradition causes the 41 species of ducks, geese and swans that live on the North American continent to fly thousands of miles each spring to the same northern breeding grounds and then fly southward in the fall to winter at the same marshes.

"Adventuresome Waterfowl," the chapter appears in the new book, "Waterfowl Tomorrow," compiled by Joseph P. Linduska and Arnold L. Nelson for the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife, U. S. department of interior.

Holding with the theory that waterfowl migrations are prompted more by tradition, rather than instinct, or habit, or the effect of an unknown mechanism in their brains, the authoritative writers of the chapter are Howard L. Mendall and Harvey K. Nelson.

They claim that birds, like people, sometimes break with tradition. Nonconformist pintails, for example, now breed in the Canadian Atlantic provinces where they never have been known to nest before.

Pioneering black ducks now press westward into mallard range, and mallards are invading the domain of the eastern black duck. Canada geese have established nesting colonies in many places where they have not bred for scores of years. If ever this wayward tendency may offer managers of waterfowl a means to help build their numbers, say these writers.

More specifically, Idaho band returns show that habit patterns break with tradition. This past July a small group of young Canada geese was released at Carey lake in Blaine county in an attempt, now in its third year, to establish a nesting flock of wild geese. About 65 geese have been transplanted in the area so far in the continuing program.

The half-grown goslings came from the captive Canada geese flock at Tautphaus park in Idaho Falls.

A cooperative agreement between the department and Idaho Falls stipulates that the department will provide grain to feed the city's captive flock in exchange for young birds for transplanting to areas such as Carey lake.

The success of the effort to establish a nesting flock of Canada geese at Carey lake won't be known until 1965, because most geese do not breed until their third year of life. The presence of a small flock of wild-breeding birds in the area the past two summers gives hope that the transplanting attempt will be successful.

A previous attempt by the department about 10 years ago to establish a nesting flock of Canada geese in Hagerman valley by transplanting feathered adults was successful. A small breeding flock of geese now is established

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Harold Hurst, Heyburn Village Aide, Divides Time Between Family, Church

HEYBURN, Dec. 5 — When Harold Robert Hurst, 41, was a small boy he had the impression that only "big shots" served on the village board. His opinion changed about nine years ago when he was appointed to serve the unexpired term of an elected member who had moved from here.

It wasn't certain whether the years had caused a change in men or whether the phrase has taken on a different interpretation. Nevertheless he doesn't feel like a "big shot."

He was the biggest surprise he ever had was the day the appointment was offered to him. He told them not to appoint him unless they wanted a lower system constructed in the village.

The appointment was made and three years later the village sewer system project was underway. Hurst was serving as chairman at the time.

Hurst divides his time between four categories—his family, church, school and community. Besides being the father of four children, he presides as bishop of the Heyburn LDS ward, teaches American government at Minico high school and serves on the village board.

When asked what outstanding thing Hurst remembers least of all during his "growing up" years he answered, "Nine brothers in a bedroom with three sleeping in each bed."

Hurst stands about six feet three inches and his hair is brown, accordingly. He also has three sisters.

He was born Sept. 23, 1923, at Zurich, Mont. to Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Hurst. The family moved to Declo in 1932 where Hurst was graduated from high school in 1941.

He attended the former Albion State Normal before going into the service in 1945. He served in the 11th airborne division 188th parachute regiment as an infantry paratrooper.

He served in New Guinea, Philippines, Okinawa and was with the occupation forces of Japan. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Three years later he was discharged and returned to Declo where he was then Southern Idaho College of Education (SICE) and received his BA degree in education.

He attended the University of Idaho and received his MA degree in education. He majored in education and minored in administration, physical education and social studies.

In 1948 he married Irene Allen, Los Angeles, Calif. In the same year he moved to Heyburn where he taught three years before being appointed school principal of the junior and senior high.

When the county school system consolidated he transferred to Minico where he is currently teaching. He reports in his small class he has 68 students and 64 in the largest.

In 1958 he was appointed to the village board of which he is still a member. He served four years as chairman during which time he went to Washington, D. C. representing the village to get a bill through congress for the government to relinquish all claims on plated Alaska.

The bill was on its way before Hurst left Washington and later

There has been 13 sub-divisions built—and he helped through the new village office and post-office building.

"Things accomplished during my time on the board have been from cooperative effort of the village. Neither one man, nor a board can do anything without the community support," he said.

His friends define him as a community leader who is continually trying to think of ways to improve things.

This characteristic was noted the time he was appointed to LDS ward clerk. A friend laughingly said that the first thing Hurst did was to go directly to the bishop's office and rearrange all the furniture to make things run more efficiently.

During the time he has spent on the board the village has organized the entire electrical system, adopted the unified building code, plumbing code and electrical code.

Pine Tree Produces Ornaments

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP) — Development of a Christmas tree that grows its own ornaments was announced today by the agriculture department.

The tree is a hybrid pine and its ornaments are of course, pine cones. What makes it different from numbers of other pines that also grow cones, the department said, is the shape and number of the hybrid tree's cones.

The Christmas-tree's cones were said to be "well shaped and grow in great profusion."

You can't buy one this year, though, or next.

Department officials said the first young trees will go to members of the California Christmas tree growers for transplanting and field testing in 1965.

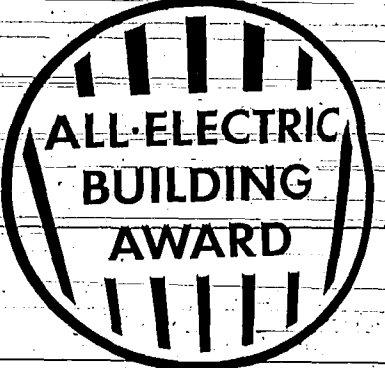

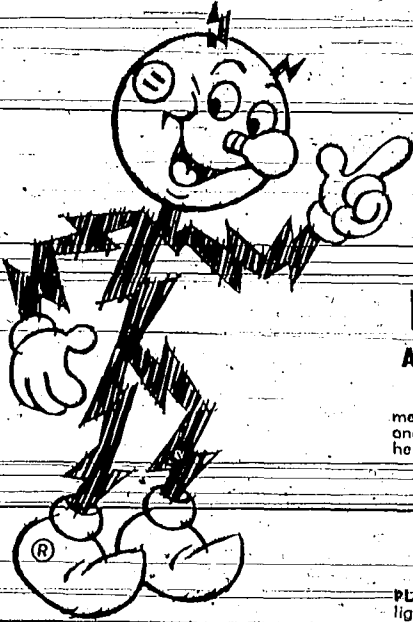

The new hybrid reaches its Christmas tree height of about six feet in five years. The cones appear at the five-year stage.

The tree is a cross between the Sierra Nevada lodgepole pine and the shore pine. It was developed at the California agriculture department institute for forest genetics, Placerville, Calif.

During the time he has spent on the board the village has organized the entire electrical system, adopted the unified building code, plumbing code and electrical code.

Improvements at Magic Mountain Ski Area Favor Beginners, Intermediates

Major improvements at Magic Mountain ski area this year are designed to aid beginners and intermediate skiers have an easier time learning the sport, resort operator Claude Jones said Saturday.

At the same time Jones said the resort will open for the winter season on Saturday, Dec. 12.

A year ago the official opening came the second week in December, giving skiers one of the longest seasons on record.

The year before, however, lack of snow caused a complete shut-down with the result that no lifts operated for the first time in its history.

"We are ready to go," Jones said. "Only the fickle weather could put a crimp in our plans."

He pointed out that the new beginners' and intermediate run has been cleared at the top of the hill with a "cat" track across the upper face of the mountain to make it easy to reach the more gentle slopes of Magic run. It also will allow the beginners to ride the lift instead of the rope tow as in past years.

Other work done this fall included considerable bulldozer removal of stumps and rocks, including a new face for the Pike mountain practice area.

Also new at the school will be a family rate plan and a school for juniors. The junior program replaces the former ski instruction garden limited only to members of that age group from Twin Falls.

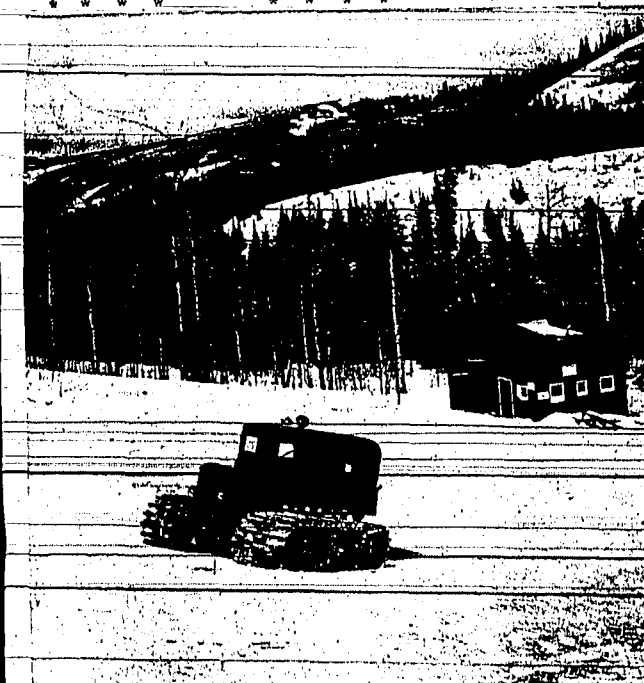

It will serve as a special package rate for bus transportation, lift tickets and two and one-half hour lessons daily for three weeks. All Magic Valley junior age group boys and girls will be eligible. The certified ski school will be available for adult lessons at all times.

Henry Chaudhary again will be head instructor and Wednesday operation is planned with bus service featured from Twin Falls.

Snow-packing equipment again will be in operation this season but several areas will be left bare for the "dry skiers" who like powder snow.

The area was one of the first to open in Magic Valley with uphill transportation. The 2,500 foot T-bar lift has been operated since 1949 and prior to that experiments were made with a sled-type lift and later a T-bar of original design. There will be two rope tows operating on Pike mountain.

This year, for the first time, ski shop beside the lodge will be in operation under supervision of James Olson, Twin Falls businessman. Equipment rentals will be a feature.

DOWNTOWN TWIN FALLS

WINTER WEATHER fails to delay work at Magic reservoir where winter fishing season improvements are not limited to any one portion of the reservoir, but are general at the several areas where "fishing clubs" have sprung up down through the years. (Times-News photo)

Fishermen Look Past Winter Snows to Opening of Trout Season Next May 29

SHOSHONE, Dec. 5 — "Only about 100 more days until fishing season opens again!" Mrs. Don Bopp's method of marking time graphically describes the type of business and pleasure trip, her husband and their partners, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCreary, are involved in. The Bopp and the McCrearys, who own and operate the Magic Lake resort at Magic reservoir, are counting the days until the 1965 fishing season with more anticipation than ever before in the 100 years they've operated the resort.

The main reason is that they, with the cooperation of Blaine county, the Wood River canal company and the state of Idaho, have bigger and better fishing facilities than ever to offer to next year's fishermen.

Blaine county, utilizing funds comprised of one per cent of the county's gasoline taxes, which are estimated to be the amount paid out by consumers for gasoline for use in outboard motors, has contracted to have built concrete boat launching ramps at the resort site, adequate for launching three boats at a time. Not only that, but the state and the Wood River canal company, which owns the famous fishing reservoir, authorized five acres of land to be reclaimed out of the bay this fall, in order that cars and boat trailers may be parked in an orderly manner without encroaching upon the private property of the cabin owners at the resort.

It should be stated here that these improved facilities are not limited to the western side of the reservoir where Magic Lake resort is located. Similar construction has been taking place at the other resort spots. The need for better boating and parking facilities was indeed apparent on the opening day of fishing season, 1964, when no less than 750 boats were lined up waiting for launching before the hour of 8 a.m., according to Mrs. Bopp.

"Last year was undoubtedly the best fishing season Magic dam has ever had," stated Mrs. Bopp. "The reservoir was rid of trash fish and restocked in time, and this season the trout supply and quality of the fish were excellent. The results of this season left little to be desired for all who journeyed here to 'get their limit.'"

The new boat launching ramp ranges from 300 to 100 feet in length in order to be adequate for both low and high water, with the top of the ramp at the top end is 50 feet, narrowing to 12 feet at bottom. Titus, Inc., Jerome, the firm contracting the concrete construction, has found it necessary to work under winter-like conditions.

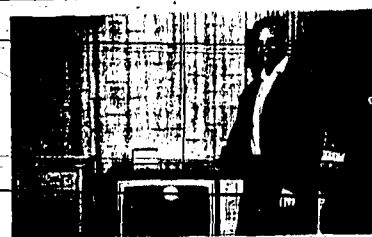

Last month when the work was being done, Magic was a miniature white Christmas scene, with six inches of snow. The launching ramp was constructed on such an incline that working conditions were actually dangerous, according to Titus' foreman, Charles Miller, Jerome. At one point, a Michigan leader, Jacked and for a few anxious moments it was feared it and the driver would end up at the bottom of the reservoir.

Ice and mud conditions were such that the utmost caution had to be observed at all times. Popularity at the resort at Magic can also be illustrated by the steadily increasing numbers of cabins being built each year at the damsite. Magic Lake resort owners stated that there are about 150 cabins at their site at present, many of them homes that would be attractive even in the city.

Captain EASY

FLINT

I'M ONLY A PRIVATE DETECTIVE, MRS. GIDEON, BUT I'M CALLING IN THE POLICE RIGHT NOW!

IS IT REALLY NECESSARY?

DO WHATEVER YOU THINK BEST!

I SUMMONED THE POLICE BOMB SQUAD AND GIDEON'S PACKAGE WAS OPENED BY EXPERTS.

IT'S A BOMB, ALL RIGHT! AMATEURISH, BUT EFFECTIVE!

MAYBE WE CAN GET SOMETHING OUT OF THE WRAPPINGS AND HANDWRITING, FLINT. BUT THERE'S NOT MUCH TO WORK ON.

THIS LETTER WAS SENT TO MCCLEARY, TELLING HIM WHERE TO DELIVER THE PACKAGE.

THE COMMEMORATIVE STAMP IS FIRED THE WAY STAMP COLLECTORS DO TO GET A "TOWN CANCELLATION."

I SUPPOSE THE COLLECTOR IS GOING TO SEE LATCH AND GET IT BACK?

PUTTING STAMPS ON LETTERS LIKE THAT BECOMES A HABIT, INSPECTOR.

OKAY, SO WE HUNT FOR A STAMP COLLECTOR--

--WHO ALSO HAS A HOBBY OF SENDING BOMBS TO PEOPLE!

AFTER WE MADE SURE THAT LATCH HAD TOLD THE TRUTH, AND WAS AN INNOCENT DELIVERY BOY, HE WAS RELEASED.

BUT DON'T LEAVE TOWN!

WHO WANTS TO TRAVEL?

OUT OF THE WAY!

SEE IF I'D LEFT THAT MESSY PIE TOPPING UNDER THE FLAME A MINUTE LONGER IT WOULD HAVE BURNED!

THAT'S THE FIRST TIME I EVER MADE CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE AND IT CAME OUT PERFECT!

I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER THAN TO LEAVE MY PIE OUT IN THE OPEN WHILE I CHANGED MY CLOTHES! DARN THAT BROTHER OF MINE! I WANTED MOM AND DAD TO SEE HOW NICE THE WHOLE THING LOOKED!

LISTEN! THE NEXT TIME YOU--

IN FACT, I'M NOT WAITING TILL NEXT TIME!

OH, BOY, NOTHING I LIKE BETTER THAN A PILLOW FIGHT!

HAI WHAT? WHY DID YOU THROW THAT PILLOW AT ME? WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?

I THREW IT AT WILLIS, BUT HE DUCKED! I JUST FOUND A PIECE OF MY CREAM PIE MISSING! THAT LITTLE THIEF!

JUST A MINUTE! THAT LITTLE THIEF HASN'T HAD A PIECE OF YOUR PIE YET-- BUT HE'S GOING TO GET IT NOW!

IT'S DELICIOUS!

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO BE WHEN YOU GROW UP?

I'M GOING TO BE A COP!

THE FIRST INDIVIDUAL I'M GOING TO JAIL IS MY DAD!

WHY YOUR DAD?

HE SPANKED ME LAST NIGHT!

WHY DID HE SPANK YOU?

I GOT SPANKED BECAUSE I CAN'T GET ALONG WITH MY AUNT BERTHA!

AUNT BERTHA CAUSES TROUBLE AND STARTS FIGHTS!

HOW OLD IS AUNT BERTHA?
